In our society, money dominates most peoples lives. This has become even more apparent with the current economic crisis. Yet, most people know surprisingly little about it and this causes great suffering. Not only is there general ignorance about money and the natural laws that guide it, there is substantial lack of understanding about our personal relationship to it.

As the financial system moves from what was fictitious to what is real, for us to consciously be a part of that movement, it is necessary for us to become more knowledgeable about, and more intimate with ourselves, and our relationship to money.

“Every student in the School needs to become personally clear about money and material means. To live in our society each individual needs to make money, manage and use it wisely. Each needs to understand one’s relationship to money, one’s various beliefs and attitudes regarding it, one’s conflicts, patterns and history with it. There needs to be understanding and objectivity about what money means, its function, uses and abuses.”

Hameed Ali

“I have done numerous workshops, read many books and listened to too many tapes on money... In a short amount of time Mayuri helped me get right to the heart of my conditioning and structures.”
